

CHRIS GREEN, BFA

Chris Van Green took his first class in jazz at 13 and has been hooked ever since. He started his dance training in Nova Scotia at Truro Dance Academy where he trained in Ballet, Jazz and Modern. Chris decided to pursue dance further after high school and received a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theatre Dance Performance from Toronto Metropolitan University. In his graduating year, Chris was honoured to receive the Kenny Pearl Award recognizing his growth and development during his time at TMU.

Since Graduating Chris has worked and collaborated with many other dancers and choreographers. He has performed in numerous dance productions, musicals, flash mobs, weddings, galas, the Much Music Video Awards, television shows and music videos. He has had the great fortune to work with choreographers and collaborators such as Hanna Kiel, Kenny Pearl, David Earle, Robert Glumbek, Darryl Tracy, James Kudelka, Andrea Penã, and Fernando Melo. Chris continues to dance professionally and has expanded his styles of movement to include Acro, Heels, Improv, Hip Hop, Urban, Cuban Contemporary, Swing, Salsa, Musical Theatre, Zumba and many styles of Fitness. He also has been teaching full time for half a decade in all styles and to all ages. Most recently, Chris became a certified instructor through Acrobatic Arts and is also a certified Rambert Grades educator.

In 2023, Chris joined forces with colleagues Amanda LaRusic and Melissa Page-Webster to establish Blurred Bodies Dance Projects which had its debut performance at Art At Night in New Glasgow in May 2023.

In addition to his dance pursuits, Chris also runs a successful personal training business, CVG Fitness which offers programming for dancers, athletes and the general public.
